CODE OF CONDUCT

STUDENT RIGHTS, RESPONSIBILITIES, AND CHARACTER DEVELOPMENT HANDBOOK

Foreword

A college preparatory education is the primary purpose of TJCA. In order for teachers to teach and students to learn, an atmosphere conducive to learning must be consistently maintained. Accordingly, the teacher, as the recognized authority in the classroom, serves as the role model to set the expectations for student behavior. Discipline is defined as well-ordered, directed behavior. The parents, guardians, students, teachers, Headmaster, administrative and support personnel, and the Board of Directors of Thomas Jefferson Classical Academy share responsibilities in the positive development and maintenance of disciplined behavior. Discipline shall be maintained without the use of corporal punishment, which is prohibited at TJCA. Every student has a right to an environment that encourages learning and is free of disruption. This handbook presents guidelines on behavior and school citizenship for students that are based on policies of Thomas Jefferson Classical Academy. The following broad categories related to student conduct are included:

The rules of conduct and sanctions for violations detailed in this document are part of our continuing responsibility to monitor student behavior. The explanations of violations and the definition of terms have been expanded to assist students in understanding the expected behaviors.

A set of rules does not replace the administrator's judgment in the review of discipline incidents. The levels indicated for school initiated consequences are a guide for the administrator but the levels may be increased or lessened if, in the view of the administrator, the situation calls for that judgment. (Violations of the laws of North Carolina will be handled pursuant to normal arrest procedures and are not within the administrator's jurisdiction.) The administration has the authority to use administrative discretion in dealing with these matters to ensure the safety and well being of our students. In order for schools to be safe and orderly places for learning, rules must be obeyed. These rules are written to give direction. However, in daily activity, one basic rule is that good sound judgment must be exercised in consideration of conditions of the moment. Furthermore, it is recognized that students need to be active participants in maintaining a safe and orderly school environment. To promote the active involvement and self-discipline of students, school staff members must remember that students need to feel respected and valued. Opportunities to learn from mistakes create a context for students to learn to make good choices in the future. Ultimately, the goal is for students to do the right thing, even when no one is looking!

Staff & Student Rights:

No individual, whether it be a parent, staff member, or board member, has the authority to give directives to any student, other staff member, parent, or board member, unless he or she has been explicitly delegated that authority by the Headmaster, except in extreme cases where the safety of the school community is clearly at risk.

STUDENT CODE OF CONDUCT

The code of conduct for students in Thomas Jefferson Classical Academy is presented as rules and sanctions. These rules and sanctions have been adopted by Thomas Jefferson Classical Academy and represent its official policy. Each rule is accompanied by the consequences (sanctions) for breaking that rule. These consequences are stated as minimum and maximum for each rule violation. Teachers, Headmaster, and other authorized personnel (including volunteers and bus drivers) are responsible for monitoring student conduct. Rule violations are to be reported via E-Discipline slips to the Dean of Students with a copy to the Headmaster. These school personnel WILL take disciplinary action against any student who violates one or more of these rules in accordance with the stated consequences.

In accordance with goals established in Board policy, the Board and Headmaster will strive to make computers available to all students and to personnel who would be assisted by them.

All computers are under the control of the Board, including hardware, software and data and word processing files stored on the computer. No personal software or files are to be kept on the computers. Personal software or files are not to be used on the computer unless sufficient steps, as defined by the Headmaster or designee, have been taken to protect the computer from viruses or any other potential damage.

All laws, including copyright laws, will be complied with in the use of computers. Under no circumstance may software purchased by the school be copied for personal use. To encourage the effective use of computers in the classroom, the Headmaster is encouraged to work with teachers in developing administrative procedures for making computers available to teachers for training purposes. Such administrative procedures may provide for allowing teachers to take computers home as a regular part of instructional planning or professional development.

Internet Acceptable Use Policy

The Thomas Jefferson Classical Academy Board of Directors recognizes that electronic resources of all types are becoming a vital part of an up-to-date education for the students whom TJCA is preparing to become technologically literate citizens. Because of this, the Board, in general, supports providing access to these resources for our staff and students.

Copies of the Internet Use Agreement are available from the Headmaster. The Board expects that the Internet and e-mail within the school will be used for educational purposes only and that staff will use the guidelines established by Board policy both for their own professional use and to instruct students in the use of these resources.

The Board policies regarding the Selection and Reconsideration of Instructional Materials and Copyright should be followed when utilizing Internet access and e-mail throughout the school. Students who wish to have access to the Internet must sign the Internet Use Agreement and must submit a permission form, which has been signed both by the students and a parent/legal guardian in which they agree that the students will adhere to all guidelines and be responsible for their own actions. Staff members will instruct students in the correct use of these resources, and students will read and understand the guidelines established by the school. The ultimate responsibility for a student's actions in using the Internet and e-mail rests with the student and his/her parent(s)/legal guardian(s).
