

From the Director's Desk - 4/5/20

Good evening Cardinal Families,

Below is the text of the phone message that went out tonight. I hope that everyone is safe and healthy!

"Good evening Cardinal Families. This is director Joe Caraher with a few brief reminders. First, our Distance Learning program will officially begin tomorrow morning. Your child's teachers should have provided you with information via email about how to connect to Google Classroom, and begin the work. If you are a family that has no access to the internet, please call the school's main number and leave a message with the school office. This will allow us to ensure that you have all the components of our learning plan.

Also, I want to remind everyone to be patient as we all work through this process together. We anticipate that there will be some challenges for both you and for the school. If we are patient and work through them together, we will all come out stronger.

Finally, a few other quick reminders. First, for those of you who may have been doing AR tests online, it will be down through this week for an update. Also, we are still finalizing our grading policy for the balance of the school year, and we should have an update on that this week.

Thank you all for your kindness and patience through all of this! I hope that each of you is able to stay healthy and safe."

Joe Caraher
